MISSING MAN IS ‘HIGH RISK’

By ANDERS LARSSON

anders@findlenews.co.uk

POLICE are asking members of the public to help officers locate a man reported missing from Beer.

The police appeal was issued on Monday morning and the man — Jonathan Dixon, 37 — has been missing since Sunday morning.

A police spokesperson said: “He was last seen by staff at the Dolphin Hotel where he is currently living.

“The alarm was raised after he failed to turn up for work. Police are anxious to locate his whereabouts.

“He has been classed as a high-risk missing person and police have conducted extensive searches for him, but to no avail.

“He is described as 5'7" tall, of slim build, with dark, balding hair and dark eyes. He normally wears a black cloth jacket.

“Jonathan’s next-of-kin are aware and police would like to hear from anyone who has seen or heard from him.”

Anyone with information is asked to call police on 08452 777444 quoting police reference 496 241010.

DISTRICT COUNCIL MEMBER PRAISES PROJECT

Regeneration chair's delight

By BEN MIDDLETON

ben@rindlenews.co.uk

A DISTRICT councillor has praised the Seaton regeneration project.

Ray Franklin, chairman of the Seaton regeneration programme board, said he was pleased with how the project is progressing in the town and urged people to get behind the scheme.

Speaking at the Seaton regeneration programme board's quarterly meeting recently Mr Franklin said: "I'm delighted that the next stage of this complex project has been reached, with permission being granted to bring the infill material in by sea.

"This is a very positive development, especially as now the majority of deliveries will take place on the shoreline, avoiding the need for thousands of lorry trips. I'm also glad to see the visitor centre moving another step closer to construction.

"I've said so many times before that standing still is not an option. If a town is not moving forward, it will stagnate and die. Seaton now has a great chance to progress. I'm a realist and I know there will be difficulties and obstacles ahead. But the regeneration proposals have taken a great stride in the right direction and we should be excited about that.

"I also know there are those who have misgivings about these changes. Change can be disconcerting but I hope that, once the work is underway and people see the physical signs of regeneration, support will grow."

During the meeting a Tesco representative confirmed that its infill project is set to start in the New Year. The infill material will come from a licensed site on the sea-bed near the Isle of Wight.

FOLLOWING

the success of last year's Christmas festival, the Seaton Chamber of Commerce is once again organising a series of activities and events to take place on Friday and Saturday, December 3rd and 4th.

Friday's activities will take place between 4pm and 8pm, starting with carol singing outside the town hall. Later on, entertainment will be provided by The Crystal Creatures — who perform mime, stilt walking and human statues — as well as the Seaton Majorettes.

There will also be a candle light procession from the town hall to the square, followed by community carol singing and prayers read by Reverend Simon D'Albertanson.

At about 6pm the Christmas lights will be switched on by the winner of the fancy dress competition and the town mayor.

Following this, there will be more carol singing before the arrival of Father Christmas in the square at around 6.25pm.

Christmas themed charity and craft stalls will also be running on Friday evening and any organisations who would like to have a stall should contact 01297 625671.

Saturday's events start at 10.30am with carol singing in the square and from 11.30am onwards the Seaton

Town Crier Auditions will also be taking place in the Square. Anyone who thinks that they've 'got the voice' and wishes to audition for this important role should contact 01297 625671.

At the same time, the Sidmouth donkeys will be waiting to meet people at the Esplanade. There will also be fairground rides, a children's entertainer — Dan the Hat — and many more surprises.

Everyone at the chamber is confident that this year's festival will be a huge success and they would encourage everyone in the local community to come along and enjoy themselves.

National rail society visit is 'highlight'

PECORAMA at Beer welcomed members of a UK-wide society on Saturday, October 9th.

The Heywood Society is a national organisation whose members own or operate miniature railways throughout the UK.

It is named after Sir Arthur Heywood, who pioneered miniature steam railways in the 1870s, and members meet twice a year to visit both private and public railways with track gauges between seven and a quarter to 15 inches.

In all, the members visited seven railways in Devon over three days, including Seaton Tramway.

Society chairman Peter Zeller, himself a full-time driver on the famous Ravenglass and Eskdale Railway in Cumbria, described their visit to Pecorama as "the highlight of a wonderful and inspiring weekend".

Special trains were run on the Beer Heights Light Railway during Saturday afternoon.

Around 80 society members enjoyed a three-course meal in the Garden Room Restaurant, after which they sampled the rare delights of steam trains running in the dark on the mile-long line.

Parts of the gardens were illuminated especially for the occasion, adding a festive feel to the evening.

Beer Heights Light Railway chief engineer John Macdougall, himself a Heywood Society member, said: "It was very heartening to hear so many positive comments about our railway and gardens.

"More than one visitor described it as the best miniature railway in the world — praise indeed."

THE generosity of people and businesses in Axminster has been praised by Cancer Research UK after the town adopted a pink theme on Thursday, October 21st.

The mission was to Turn Axminster Pink to raise funds for the charity's fight against breast cancer.

Axminster Chamber of Commerce agreed to help organise the event and the response was very good, with many businesses and staff donning pink and raising funds in various ways.

Dawn Harrison of Cancer Research UK took an active part in proceedings and said: "Axminster has been fantastic, turning the town pink and raising funds and awareness."

"A huge thanks to everyone who took part."

Chairman chairman Shane Morgan added: "The people of Axminster have been very generous."

The total amount raised will be announced in the near future.

CHAIN OWNER'S FAST REOPEN BID

By ANDERS LARSSON

anders@tindlenews.co.uk

A PUB chain says it aims to reopen an Axminster pub as soon as possible.

Castle Inn in Castle Street is currently shut after previous landlord Dan Ecclestone threw a farewell party for regulars on Monday, October 18th.

Mr Ecclestone said he and his family have taken the opportunity to move back to their home town of Weymouth.

He took over the pub in September 2006 and a key part of the business plan was to provide live entertainment.

But noise complaints and limitations imposed by East Devon District Council on the use of the beer garden - plus conditions attached to planning consent for a skittle alley - meant he decided to call it a day.

He said: "Not being able to expand meant I couldn't see a future in it."

When speaking to Pulman's View, Mr Ecclestone stressed there was no bankruptcy, the pub was going well and was well supported.

He praised Punch Taverns, saying: "Punch Taverns was good with support. They tried a lot of stuff."

Mr Ecclestone also praised the regulars, saying: "Lyndsey [his wife] and I would like to thank all loyal customers for their support and we wish the next tenant the best of luck."

"And special praise to Heather and her team at NatWest, Chris and Annie, Will, Dawn and next door neighbour Andrew Bolton plus other people, who know who they are."

A spokesperson from Punch Taverns said: "Our priority is to reopen the Castle Inn as soon as possible."

"We are actively recruiting a new licensee, and have received some interest."

"We look forward to working closely in partnership to build a successful, sustainable business."

Due date arrives for maternity bid

TOMORROW (Wednesday) is due date for the campaigners fighting against changes to the maternity unit services at Honiton hospital.

NHS Devon board members are set to meet at the West Devon Borough Council offices in Tavistock to make a final decision on whether to end overnight stays for new mums at Honiton hospital and other hospitals across east Devon.

In September, Devon County Council's health and adult services scrutiny committee voted 17 to one to reinstate the overnight stays and restore transfers to Honiton from the Royal Devon and Exeter hospital for new mums.

Claire Wright, maternity unit campaigner, said: "It would mean so much to so many families for the NHS to listen to them and allow mums to stay longer (at Honiton Maternity Unit) than a few hours after giving birth."

Overnight stays at Honiton stopped in February with NHS Devon citing staff shortages as the reason.

As has been previously reported in Pulman's View, thousands of people have signed up to a Facebook campaign and signed petitions in an attempt to get the service reinstated.

Two public meetings have also been held in Honiton and during the meetings mums and mums-to-be from across east Devon vented their concerns to town councillors, maternity unit campaigners and NHS Devon representatives.

Dr John Ackroyd, a retired Ottery St Mary GP, is set to address the NHS Devon board on behalf of the Honiton Maternity Matters group.

By BECKIE RUTHERFORD

EAST Devon District Council (EDDC) is asking members of the public to comment on possible changes to its current executive arrangements.

These changes are required by the Local Government and Public Involvement Health Act 2007 and the council is inviting local residents to choose one of the following options.

• Option 1 — Leader and Cabinet Model: The council would be led by one elected councillor who had been appointed by the other councillors. This leader would have to appoint a deputy leader and would choose a cabinet of up to eight other councillors to help them run the council and make decisions on policies and budgets. Although appointed for four years, the leader could be removed by a vote of no confidence. This system is similar to the current leader and cabinet arrangements operated by most NHS Devon representatives.

At its meeting on Wednesday, October 13th, EDDC officers agreed in principle and subject to public consultation, that its preference was Option 1.

councils, including EDDC - the only differences being the right to appoint their own cabinet, the ability to exercise some or all of the executive functions themselves and the four-year-term.

• Option 2 — Directly-elected Mayor and Cabinet Model: The council would be led by a directly-elected mayor who would remain in office for a four-year-period.

The mayor would not be a councillor or representative of an area or ward of EDDC and they could not be removed from office by the council.

They would appoint a councillor to be deputy mayor as well as a cabinet of up to eight other councillors to offer advice on running the council and help make decisions about policies and budgets.

EDDC is consulting on these options until Friday, November 12th and the outcome of this will be reported to the council's executive board on Friday, December 3rd.

A spokesman for EDDC said: "The executive board recommends the proposal to the full council which then passes its resolution to adopt the 2007 act executive arrangements in December 2010. The revised arrangements come into operation three days after the local elections in May 2011."

Any members of the public who would like to comment should email democraticservices@eastdevon.gov.uk. Alternatively send comments to Democratic Services, East Devon District Council, Knowle, Sidmouth EX10 8HL.

The closing date for comments is 12noon on Friday, November 12th.

The report that was sent to EDDC's executive board is available for public viewing at EDDC's offices or it can be found at www.eastdevon.gov.uk/eb_061010_item16.pdf.

Top marks for Gabriella

A HONITON student has scored top marks at a recent Exeter College awards ceremony.

Gabriella Dyson picked up the outstanding achievement award for her work on 17th century history.

During the event 37 awards were presented to the winners in recognition of their performance across the 37 AS level subjects currently available at the college.

Former Exeter College student turned England rugby referee Luke Pearce was on hand to distribute the awards during the evening.

Mr Pearce said: "College was great fun for me. Those were the freedom years after school and before university. I made a lot of friends there who are still my friends.

"Remembering how I felt when I was studying for my A levels, I know that it can sometimes be a bit daunting."

Assistant principal Anne Oxborough added: "This is the fifth year that the AS awards have been held, and every year the atmosphere is excellent. There's always a true sense of pride and joy among staff and loved ones as each of the students go up onto the stage to collect their prizes."

TWO friends have so far raised more than £1,000 to be split between three charities.

As previously reported in Pulman's View, Tony Booth, of Axminster, and Paddy Magrane, of Shute, were planning to walk the length of the River Axe in aid of Shute Community Primary School, Rethink and Farm Africa.

The walk took place on Saturday, October 9th, and the pair completed the 28 miles from the source of the river in Beaminster, Dorset, to its mouth at Axmouth in a time of 10 hours and 50 minutes.

So far Tony and Paddy have collected £615 for Shute Community Primary School, £248.57 for Rethink and £239 for Farm Africa.

Speaking to Pulman's View Tony said: "The weather was spot on and it was a really good day."

"We estimated that the walk would take us between 11 and 12 hours but we made up a bit of time because we didn't have to stop and keep looking at the map and our early pace was quite fast."

During the walk Tony and Paddy were met by friends along the way and only had to take one small detour - when they came across a large bull.

"Our friends met us at various parts of the route and then they met us at the end and we shared a bottle of wine.

"The only real drama that we had

was when a bull was blocking our way. He was standing in the gateway to a field that we needed to go through.

"I grew up on a farm and I know that bulls can be fairly unpredictable, and we had the dogs with us as well.

"We decided that the best thing to do was make a small detour," said Tony.

Tony added that he is now hoping to boost the total amount raised and anyone who would like to offer a pledge can do so by visiting www.walkingtheriveraxe.co.uk.

He said: "If people who have promised to donate do so, the final totals will be higher.

"Also on the on-line campaign the gift aid contributions will be around £100.

"Between the two of us to raise about £1,200 is very respectable, especially in this economic climate."

FUNDS raised were slightly down and police were kept busy during this year's Honiton Carnival, however large crowds gathered to watch the spectacle and the event has been described as a success by the organisers.

The carnival took place on Saturday, October 23rd with the main procession beginning at 7.30pm from Ottery Moor Lane.

Carnival secretary Karen Wilson said: "We did the counting on Sunday after all the results where known and unfortunately we were slightly down on last year."

"However, I think the carnival went really well and from what people have told me the crowds were pretty good."

Bill Austin, carnival chairman, said: "The carnival went off very well. The weather held off which was good and the collection was only about £400 down on last year so we can't complain too much.

"It was certainly very busy and there were a lot of people about. I would like to thank all our sponsors, they know who they are.

"I would also like to thank the 4x4 Experience of Awliscombe — they provide the land rover to pull the carnival queen — and Ash Safety of Honiton who provided the walkie talkies.

"Thanks to everyone who attended and for the carnival entries who did a good job of cleaning up after themselves."

A spokesman for Honiton police added: "Due to the large crowd that gathered at Honiton Carnival, police from Honiton came out in pairs to ensure everyone's safety.

"Both these men were issued with cautions."

patrol, a large number of alcohol was seized and poured away from youths under 18-years-old.

"The seizure of the alcohol has resulted in eight letters being sent to parents informing them of the actions of their child and that under Section 30 of the Policing and Crime Act 2009, if their child is caught another two times in the next 12 month period with alcohol in public, then they would be liable to prosecution.

"Police also issued one direction to leave notice and one fixed penalty notice of £80 for urinating in public.

"There were two public order arrests which were later issued with £80 fixed penalty notices, along with one male arrested for assault and another arrested for obstructing police.

"Both these men were issued with cautions."

School dinner day serves up over 60 roasts for life

NO less than 66 roast beef dinners were served at St Andrew's Primary School in Chardstock on Wednesday, September 29th.

The occasion was a Food for Life Partnership Roast Dinner Day, which saw parents and members of the local community join pupils for an organic and locally-sourced roast dinner.

The event celebrated work at the school to improve dinners as well as its overall food culture.

Schools throughout England were invited to take part in the Food for Life Partnership Roast Dinner Day.

The partnership is a network of schools and communities across England committed to transforming food culture.

◆ THE Axminster Neighbourhood Policing Team squad after every person completed the commando challenge at Lympstone

Beat team completes gruelling challenge

By ANDERS LARSSON

anders@tindlenews.co.uk

MONTHS of training paid off as all members of an Axminster commando challenge squad completed the gruelling course at Woodbury Common.

For the second year, Axminster Neighbourhood Policing Team prepared a squad of local youngsters, police officers and adult helpers for the annual Marine Commando Challenge.

It was far from a case of simply turning up on the day as squad members trained together twice a week for approximately 15 weeks.

This year's event took place on October 10th and PC Kevin Bennett explained: "We commenced recruitment in June utilising the local press, the police web site, approaching local schools and, on occasion, approaching individuals directly.

"We initially managed to recruit about 20 young adults (16-25 years) and commenced training in late June.

"Through the first month some decided that it was too much hard work and unfortunately dropped out.

"However a hard core of 15 young adults did continue and along with three hardy police officers and two adult helpers, managed to get themselves very much fitter and prepared for the challenge that lay ahead.

"On the day we had a total entry of 20 people split into three teams — Minster's Finest, Minster's Also Rans and Minster's Also Walked."

PC Bennett was happy to report that all members managed to complete the 10K multi-terrain assault course without incident or injury.

He added: "All claimed to have thoroughly enjoyed it, although seeing some of their faces when they got to the infamous sheep dip (an underwater tunnel) I would suggest that it wasn't strictly the case.

"The aim of the project was to help form, develop and improve relationships between the police and young adults of our communities and distract them away from anti-social behaviour.

"This aim was well and truly met with many friendships being made that I'm sure will last for many years to come.

"The team has raised about £1,250 in sponsorship to date, with more sponsorship to be collected. We estimate the total will exceed £1,500, which will be donated to the Commando Challenge's chosen charities — Devon Air Ambulance and C Group Royal Marines."

Launching more sport

SPORT in this area is a huge factor, I am pleased to say, in many people's lives.

I am always surprised to see the amount of dedicated sporting and activities clubs and individuals in these rural parts.

And due to the sheer volume of sportspeople, I am pleased to launch our new six-page sports section.

The Pulman's View team has added an extra two pages to the sports section to help us to accommodate the many different disciplines that our readers take part in.

Football is a huge sport in these parts — and pretty much everywhere else in the world — and players and enthusiasts at a lower level put in so much training and hard work to raise dedicated teams from local villages.

So it is important to us that they get the coverage they deserve in their local paper.

But it isn't just for the footy fans out there. There are so many other sports that, due to the lower numbers involved, fail to always get the coverage.

Hockey, netball, equestrian sports, crib, bowling — they should all get their own space within the sports pages.

Skittles is a huge activity in this part of the world — something that was a new concept to my family when we relocated here from the south east many moons ago.

In Kent, we didn't have such a thing, but in east Devon, particularly, it is rife, and it deserves its place in the press.

So, with all that in mind, I hope our increased sports section is a winner with a large proportion of our readers.

I am also pleased to introduce the newest recruit to the Pulman's team. Sports journalist Kevin Fahey has joined us to use his extensive knowledge to cover the local football scene.

Starting out training as a reporter in Bristol, Kevin soon found sports journalism to be his speciality.

Now living in the beautiful fishing village of Beer, Kevin will be covering football matches from teams in the Perry Street, Devon and Exeter and South West Peninsula leagues on a regular basis.

His excellent sports writing and reporting will be a great asset to the content of our growing sports section.

The ying and yang of life does not escape the newsroom. Whilst celebrating the appointment of sport reporter Kevin and the addition of sport pages, the Pulman's team also had a disaster recently.

I say 'disaster' and, although I am a newspaper headline-writer, I promise I am not sexing this up. It was a disaster for my news team anyway.

Technical gremlins crawled into one of our computers in the Axminster office overnight last Sunday and ate much of the internal of the machine.

This meant that Monday morning (press day for the Devon editions) was in total chaos and many of our emails had been digested by said gremlins.

The computer, belonging to chief reporter Anders Larsson, was sent away to be fixed, and it was, but the emails were not found, nor were the gremlins.

So, anyone who sent emails to anders@tindlenews.co.uk or pulmans@tindlenews.co.uk between October 1st and 18th may want to resend them.

And if anyone spots shifty-looking gremlins about our streets, please contact the newsroom as we'd like a word.

Solicitors retain industry's award for great service

◆ JAMES Griffin

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@indlenews.co.uk

A SOLICITORS with offices in Honiton, Ottery St Mary and Seaton has retained a top industry award.

Every's received confirmation that it had retained its Lexcel Practice Management Standard last week.

Every's managing partner James Griffin, said: "This is the industry kite mark and means that we have been acknowledged by the recognised representative body for the legal profession as offering an excellent service to our clients."

"The Lexcel stamp of approval provides our clients and prospective clients with the assurance that they will receive nothing less than the highest level of service from us. We work very hard to achieve this and were delighted to hear the news that we received the award following the recent annual maintenance visit from the assessor."

The Lexcel Practice Management Standard is only awarded to solicitors who meet the highest management and customer care standards.

Lexcel accredited practices undergo rigorous independent assessment every year to ensure they meet required standards of excellence in areas such as client care, case management and risk management.

◆ TESCO staff with MP Neil Parish and staff and pupils from the four schools

Gift box for schools thanks to customers

FOUR primary schools have picked up an equipment box each from the Tesco for Schools and Clubs scheme.

Staff and pupils from All Saints, St Mary's, Axminster and Seaton primary schools, along with MP Neil Parish, visited the supermarket's Axminster branch on Friday, October 15th.

Earlier this year, customers were given vouchers which they donated to a school of their choice.

The schools in question could then use the vouchers to pick a certain amount of goods, including anything from cricket equipment to digital cameras.

View too late?

EDITOR — I am sure I won't be the last, but would like to think I was not too late to voice my views?

How many, I wonder, are torn between their job and their quality of life?

Do they fight their employers and run the risk of being unemployed...or put up and shut up? To think one has to seek and submit planning permission for an extension or a conservatory — as it may upset the view or outlook of your neighbour — but if you have the clout and enough necks on the block, you can get away with blue murder.

I always thought that greenbelt meant greenbelt. Full stop. How, pray, will the town or the facilities we have, cope with the influx of people and traffic?

Maybe, if built on the far west of the town, we could become a suburb of Honiton? But I think that maybe a greenbelt area?

Why bother to ask for people's opinions, if regardless of the outcome, there is no intention of taking them on board? But I am guessing that is what politics is all about.

Carey Wason, Axminster

Disappointed

EDITOR — I was so excited when I learnt of the news that the Co-op in Honiton had a new look.

I trotted off with glee but came back dismayed and disappointed. £220,000 for what?

All that's changed is the advertising boards and the signs to tell you what's in the aisles. There are no self-scan tills. In fact it's back to the old ways of long queues and disgruntled customers. Such a disappointment.

A true local voices own opinion as town's future

EDITOR — As a true local, being born in Axminster I feel it is only right that I too should put forward my thoughts and comments regarding the new development at Cloakham Lawns.

I feel very frustrated when I see certain members of the public express opinions on behalf of the town.

I do not wish to be told what my opinions are especially as I feel recent comments have been more personal towards Axminster Carpets rather than being for the good of the town.

As a first time buyer I am struggling to find a property I can afford, this means that I will be forced out of the town I grew up in, with the low-cost affordable housing which will be on offer it means I, and many other first time buyers will be able to stay living in Axminster, working in Axminster and continue to support the growth of Axminster.

If we drive all of our youngsters away what future will the town have? I too think that losing a part of our countryside is sad but we have to face the fact that for the town to move on we need to grow and to grow we need more housing and a company which will back and support the town for the future.

Just look at Cloakham Lawn Sport Centre and the benefit that has on the town thanks to Axminster Carpets, look at the level of employment within the town, thanks to Axminster Carpets and the fact that they have put us on the map, who would know about Axminster if it wasn't for Axminster Carpets.

Who would you prefer to build our future, a respected firm which has been in this town for years, promising to put everything they can back into the community and continue to support our sports facility and offer affordable low-cost housing for the younger generation — the town's future — or another building firm with only money and profit in mind.

I know which one I would choose.

STAR LETTER
£10 Archway Bookshop vouchers are on their way to your door...

Labour deficit

EDITOR — The historic letter you published from David Miliband (28th Sept) assures Tiverton and Honiton Labour Party, who backed him, "I promise I won't let you down".

He stood down days later so proving Harold Wilson's dictum that a week is a long time in politics.

Counting individual party, affiliate and trade unionist votes David Miliband lost to his brother Ed by over 10,000 in the first ballot and almost 30,000 votes overall.

Ed Miliband said what needed to be said both about Labour's solid achievements in health and education, etc but also, unlike his brother, acknowledged Labour's mistakes.

So far so good. But there is another obvious way to cut the deficit while upholding our defence forces and our UN agreement on disarmament.

That is to scrap the absurd Trident system, something the Lib Dems said they would do. How about it Ed?

*Tom Simpson
Honiton Pensioners for Peace*

An inspiration

EDITOR — As we cannot contact them all, we would like, through this letter, to thank the many local people who entered our Inspiration photo competition, initiated in February.

The art group, Kick Start the Arts (KiSTA), on behalf of the Seaton Visitor Centre Trust, encouraged the community to think about what inspires them about Seaton's Natural Environment and we were all thrilled by the photos received.

Four resignations was a surprise

EDITOR — I have to express my surprise at the resignation of four of the Stand up for Seaton councillors over the approval by EDDC of Tesco's application to bring in the infill necessary to raise the site of their supermarket.

This was a requirement of the Environment Agency.

The original planning approval for a supermarket to be built on the derelict holiday camp site was given ages ago, after great public debate.

I would have thought that might have been the time to have staged protest resignations.

Surely now is the time to really "stand up for Seaton" and ensure the town achieves the best possible spin-offs from the development with the least possible disruption, together with ensuring that the whole rest of the regeneration site is developed for the overall benefit of the town.

Even if this means negotiating with Tesco and also with sometimes-difficult local authorities, it can be done, given motivation, perseverance and a lack of personal ego.

I was very pleased to read in the Pulman's View that Councillor Jim Knight and Councillor Stephanie Jones have publicly stated that they will not be walking away.

Pulman's

View from the churches

With Nigel
Speller

CHIEF news this week comes from the national scene although the effect of decisions there will be felt locally.

First comes the results of the elections, for the next five years, to the general synod of the Church of England. Members to the House of Clergy and the House of Laity are elected by deanery synods. The successful clergy were the Venerable Penny Driver, Archdeacon of Exeter, Canon Andrew Godsall, of Exeter Cathedral, Prebendary Sam Philpott and The Revd Rod Thomas from Plymouth.

The Laity elected were Mesdames Barrell and Foreman from Plymouth and Okehampton respectively, Miss Forward from Heavitree, and Messrs Hodgson and Shelly from Cadbury Deanery.

The general synod is completed with a House of Bishops from the 44 dioceses.

One of the main issues facing the new synod will be voting on whether women should become Bishops in the Church of England. Local anglican churches in Devon will first be invited next year to vote on this in their parishes and deaneries before the final decision is reached by the general synod.

Rev Linda Chester, methodist minister, asks: "What is your favourite book or story? Even if you haven't read a book recently, you will no doubt have a favourite one you can recall."

This Sunday was designated Bible Sunday when we specifically thought about the Bible and reflected on what it means to us. The Bible, a collection of different style books spanning centuries, is special to Christians and it is at the centre of our worship.

I always open its pages with a sense of excitement because I know that God will speak to me. There are so many modern versions available which can easily be read, and notes to help our understanding; the Gospels are a good place to begin. Little wonder that the Bible is known all around the world and 50 are sold very minute. Why not give it a try?

Harvest decorations delight WI women

THE October meeting of Musbury and Whitford Women's Institute was held in Whitford Village Hall.

Records of previous meetings were made available, apologies taken and birthday posies given out.

One of the members, Joan, made a lovely job of the hall decorations for the harvest supper and had done a really big one for the stage.

Business was conducted including appeals for a new secretary, and committee members.

Members were pleased that both Eve and Monica are progressing well after their respective operations.

Then on with the fun bit, the group was very pleased to welcome some old members for a visit.

Marnie had devised a fiendishly difficult cryptic quiz, which gave most of the members a headache, but was won, as usual, by the biggest cheats.

The group had a supper of home-made soup and apple pie.

Some members actually carved animals from apples.

A vote of thanks was given by Jackie to Joan for the flowers and to Marnie for storing the charity goods and also to Brenda and Marnie for organising the food.

Menus were distributed for the lunch on November 18th at the Ridgeway.

All in all, it was an excellent meeting.

The next gathering is the annual meeting on Tuesday, November 9th, at 7.30pm, at Whitford Village Hall.

As usual, visitors are always welcome.

◆ BLESSED with good weather, Axminster Catenians had a good turnout of brothers and wives to enjoy the annual barbecue at the home of Bruce and Mary Kahn. The barbecue was staged on September 4th and several children and guests were very welcome and helped to make it a very happy occasion. Catenians are Catholic men who meet regularly for social activities — often with their families. They are part of an international organisation with over 10,500 members. Members of Axminster Catenians are drawn from east Devon, west Dorset and south Somerset

A cream tea after croquet

MEMBERS of Honiton Afternoon Women's Institute enjoyed a cream tea and a game of croquet at Manna House, Honiton, in July.

Members were also shown around the lovely garden.

In September members enjoyed a boat trip along the Jurassic coast at Exmouth and a coffee morning at Wilmington.

The ever expanding group also listened to a talk on breast cancer given by Jan Guscott.

At the October meeting Coral King gave the group a talk about the Luton Girls's Choir.

Market sales competition

COLYTON Country Market is staging a design competition for children.

The competition invites youngsters to come up with a design to feature in market publicity material for 2011.

The overall winner will also win £50 worth of books for their school, so it is hoped that lots of children will send in their A4 drawings (not computer generated) of their idea of a market.

Entrants should put their age, name and telephone number on the back of their submission and the drawings can be handed in at today's — October 26th — market or sent to: Bulls Court House, Colyton, EX24 6NA. Entries should arrive no later than October 31st.

Country pub raises £2,500

A PUB and restaurant on the outskirts of Axminster has raised more than £2,500 for Exeter Leukemia Fund (ELF).

On Friday, October 8th, The Ridgeway Inn, Smallridge, held a cabaret evening with entertainment provided by Daley Knight and Croft Particular.

A tombola and raffle collection was also held along with a small auction.

Staff from The Ridgeway Inn would like to thank all the local businesses and attractions that donated prizes.

The total amount of money raised for ELF was £2,540.

New code of responsibility for divers out

A SURVEY has just been released which discloses that whilst the great majority of divers care about marine wildlife during their underwater explorations, there is still a need to raise awareness about the laws dealing with the collecting of shellfish and a new Divers Shellfish Code has been published, urging divers to act responsibly by limiting catches to what they can eat and to observe the law.

People diving at Kimmeridge Bay in the Purbeck Marine Wildlife Reserve took part in the survey between May and September and while some 78 per cent of those questioned expressed concern that divers should not take excessive amounts of shellfish, nearly half were not aware of the laws against taking breeding animals or selling their catch.

I encountered this problem at first-hand when, a few months ago, I spent several hours at sea, from Lulworth Bay, with a professional fully licensed scallop fisherman and diver. He told me that whilst he had to invest in a boat, diving equipment and pay a substantial fee to operate, amateur divers were scooping up scallops and any other edible crustaceans, and in many cases selling them.

Not only was this illegal, but they were also ignoring safety regulations. He had to phone in to the coastguard at regular intervals to establish his position, and provide full diving details in case of an accident. In addition, all scallops brought up have to be graded for size and those too small returned to the sea, a conservation measure which is largely ignored by amateur divers. Legal minimum sizes for lobsters, crabs, scallops and spider crabs have now been published for the benefit of amateurs.

Julie Hatcher, marine awareness officer at Dorset Wildlife Trust, says that the survey shows that most divers are concerned about the marine environment and support our call for a responsible attitude to diving and shellfish collecting. Well, yes, that may be so, but I suspect that there is still an irresponsible minority who allow greed to overcome responsibility. According to the survey the fish favoured by divers are cuttlefish, lobster, crab, ray, shark and conger eels. Curiously, no mention of scallops.

Did you know that the Blackdown Hills is one of this country's leading locations for night sky watching? The problem is that today there is so much artificial light from cities, towns, motorways, even small villages, that are no more than a mere 10 per cent of the British population can night gaze and wonder at the immensity of the planets and stars. Now new guidance has been published by the Blackdown Hills AONB team to assist people to reduce light pollution and to protect our views of the galaxy. These can be downloaded from the internet and are a continuation of the work which took place in the International Year of Astronomy in 2009. The information sheets will explain how practical steps can be taken to ensure houses or premises are not leaking light and detracting from the natural sky. To download go to www.blackdownhillsaonb.org.uk.

On the bird front an extreme rarity, a Solitary Sandpiper, was seen on Black Hole Marsh behind Seaton. This is only the 39th record of this American wader and the first for Devon and, not surprisingly, attracted scores of twitchers. The young osprey, which stayed so long on the Axe estuary, has now departed, but observers were thrilled to see how, over a few days, its fishing technique swiftly improved and it was soon catching large mullet.

RAYMONDS HILL - £475,000

This spacious, detached four bedroom home with large, level garden was built just over a year ago and has been finished to a high standard by the owners. The bright accommodation comprises large kitchen/dining room, utility room, study, living room, conservatory, four double bedrooms, two with en-suite shower rooms and family bathroom and a large landing with feature window. Outside to the front is a generous garage, parking for several vehicles and to the rear a secluded and enclosed garden. The property is very well presented and also benefits from a rain water harvesting system and solar panels for hot water.

The property was completed last year and carries the remainder of the NHBC guarantee dated from May 2009. The owners have carried out the finishing touches to include tiling and flooring, internal decoration, creating additional parking, tree felling and fencing the garden and the addition of a conservatory. Most windows have blinds including the unusually shaped landing window and these are being left with the property. This high quality home is offered to the market with an asking price of £475,000. Please call Gordon and Rumsby on 01460 30888 for more information or to arrange a viewing.

UPOTTERY PRICE GUIDE - £245,000

Located in the unspoilt Devon village of Upottery, this grade II listed stone built coach house was once part of Upottery Manor which was demolished in the 1950's and formerly the residence of Viscount Sidmouth. The Old Coach House was imaginatively converted in the 1990's into a complex of six homes each with its own unique character and layout. One of these homes is Phaeton, which has been tastefully updated by the present owners. A particular feature is the double storey fanlight window, which now fills one of the original coach house doorways. Having parked the car you walk through a pair of iron gates and an archway and enter a large paved communal courtyard with a well and a Victorian style lamp post. Here you will sense the grandeur of the Victorian architecture, while access to each apartment leads off the courtyard. Phaeton has its own entrance and a glazed front door which leads through to an entrance hall and in turn to the hall. The hall has a stone effect ceramic tiled floor and doors lead off to the ground floor rooms. The cloakroom has been updated in a contemporary style with stone effect ceramic tiled walls and floor. The living/dining room has an ornamental Minster stone fireplace and three windows below the large fanlight window looking over the courtyard and the main bedroom gallery above. The kitchen is double aspect with an arched window to the rear and a window and french doors out to the courtyard. The same tiled floor is carried through from the hall, and it is fitted with a range of shaker style units and integrated appliances. The main bedroom is galleried above the living/dining room taking full advantage of the large fanlight window overlooking the courtyard, and with a window to the rear. The landing, with a window to the rear has a door leading through to an inner hallway with an airing cupboard and a door to the shower room. This has been updated recently with tiled walls and floor and fixtures. The second bedroom is a double room with a window overlooking the courtyard and two double built in wardrobes. Phaeton also has allocated parking and a storage shed. Services include mains water, drainage and electricity. Each owner of the six properties in The Old Coach House has a share in the management company and the service charge currently stands at £70 per month. The Council Tax is band C.

Game for anything

Now's the time to try all those exciting sounding birds like duck, pheasant and goose. During game season, we find out how to get involved (with the eating side of things, that is).

When it comes to seasonal meat, words like venison, partridge and grouse are often just a step too far for everyday cooks.

But luckily, chef Tom Norrington-Davies is a man on a mission. He and colleague Trish Hilferty, who have worked together at celebrated London restaurants Great Queen Street and The Anchor and Hope, want to share their all-consuming passion for game meat with home cooks.

They say game is tastier, healthier and more interesting than the generic run-of-the-mill meats found on supermarket shelves - and just as versatile.

"Next time you find yourself slathering a chicken breast with a marinade to save it from mediocrity, try swapping it for something that has literally walked on the wild side, and tastes like it,"

Norrington-Davies says.

"Next time you find yourself worrying about the way your pork chop was treated on the farm, consider the genuinely free-range lifestyle of a rabbit, or a deer, or any number of other animals that roamed where they liked, and ate what they wanted."

Norrington-Davies and Hilferty say they look forward to winter's dark days because game meats are more plentiful during the colder months.

"The reason we don't spend those colder months dreaming too much about the summer is probably because our cooking is dominated by the huge choice of game on offer. Game is not winter food by any means, but it is the best thing about that time of year."

"Game never seems to taste the same twice," Norrington-Davies says.

"Just like a brilliant wine and its terroir, or a spankingly fresh oyster and its riverbed, game has such a close relationship with nature that it manages to delight and surprise you on some level every time you cook and eat it."

One Fat Lady back in flavour

When Clarissa Dickson Wright takes on a challenge, the aristocratic cook does it properly. The former 'Fat Lady' talks about the challenges of tackling one-pot recipes for her latest book Potty and why the new Conservative government has brought her back into favour with TV executives.

Formerly one half of the Two Fat Ladies, the larger-than-life cook loves hunting, fresh meat from the butcher and chewing the fat.

But it's a while since you last saw her on television. "Blair was trying to ban everything I stood for... and Alistair Campbell ran the BBC," she says, as explanation for her absence.

While she's here to talk about her new one pot cookbook, Potty, the cook is equally as excited about becoming flavour of the month again.

Since New Labour's exit, Dickson Wright says her agent has been inundated with offers and she's just back from a bout of filming.

"I always said that when there was a change of government I'd be back on television. The old lot hated Clarissa And The Countryman [her second BBC series]. I was making television about all the things Blair was trying to ban and get rid of - like farming."

While the former PM might disagree with her interpretation of history, it's a fact that Dickson Wright marched with the Countryside Alliance against the last government's controversial Hunting Act, and has always been keen to voice her disapproval over any perceived lack of support for British food and agriculture.

For the last few years, the aristocratic cook and former alcoholic (who managed to drink her way through a £2.8 million fortune in her early years) says her professional life has revolved around writing books.

"When the publisher Hodder approached me with this idea, I said, 'On God no' because, having been a cookery book seller for 20 years, I knew that one pot cookbooks are always rather dreary." Still, she likes a challenge, and soon began experimenting with the idea.

"There are lots of variants on what constitutes a pot," she laughs. "I remembered the eggs and bacon in a tin mug idea from when I was rector at the University of Aberdeen and was rustling up food for the students."

One of the recipes in Potty has attracted attention for its less than appetising title: Primordial Soup. "I was sitting next to a biologist who worked at the Natural History Museum. We were discussing where life came from and she said she thought it came from primordial soup."

"What a great idea for a recipe", I thought, so I went off and created a Japanese-type soup filled with seaweed, so it looked like the beginnings of life."

Luckily for Dickson Wright, having written 16 cookbooks she now has "a palate in [her] head". "I lie in bed thinking about what to do. I think about a chicken, add flavours to it and then I get up and make it - and nowadays it virtually always works."

She describes her style of cooking as very simple. "It's all about the quality of ingredients. But while your food will be 10 times better if you've got a good fishmonger and a good butcher, if you get the flavours right it will still be good."

"Although if anyone who's read more than one of my books still buys their meat in supermarkets, I'm surprised they're still buying my books."

Having just completed some filming for a new series, The Great British Food Revival, to be broadcast in January 2011 on BBC Two, she says she wishes people would focus programmes on food, rather than celebrity chefs.

"I plead with Pat Llewellyn (the producer behind the Two Fat Ladies, Gordon Ramsay and Jamie Oliver): 'Go away from the chef thing - no one cares any more what the food tastes like'."

But Dickson Wright's a little more hopeful about the state of British agriculture now there's been a change of government.

"A few years ago I went up to a Defra stand at the Yorkshire Show and there was no mention of British food, or farming. So I asked about it and the man on the stand said, 'We can import it cheaper'.

"Now we have a Defra minister who's a farmer, Richard Benyon, and Jim Paice, who comes from farming stock and knows a thing about British food and farming."

The rudest food

Jamie Oliver's Fifteen protege, Aaron Craze, goes solo with his new show Rude Boy Food, starting Monday November 16. The chef talks about kicking back with his mates, bantering with strangers and getting fired up over food.

As an unemployed 25-year-old carpet fitter with a girlfriend and one-year-old daughter to support, Aaron Craze didn't feel he had much in common with Jamie Oliver.

Six years later, he now counts the multi-millionaire chef among his friends and can say without a shadow of a doubt that his jobless days are over.

One of Oliver's original Fifteen proteges, 31-year-old Craze is about to become a star in his own right.

His new cooking show, Rude Boy Food, starts on the Good Food channel on November 16, and it's as cool as Naked Chef was laddish.

Filmed in a flat which looks over the rooftops of real-life London, it shows a side of the capital rarely shown in lifestyle programmes.

Craze shops, cooks and chats in front of a concrete landscape and his food reflects the multi-culturalism of his upbringing in West London.

"My friends and their families were from places in the Caribbean and Africa and you could get anything you liked food-wise.

Street food wasn't a dodgy burger with brown lettuce on the way home from the pub."

Although Craze might be a similar age to 33-year-old Oliver, he's hardly cut from same establishment-friendly cloth.

In the first episode of his new series, Craze cooks for a gang of local parkour enthusiasts. As they leap off walls and jump over hostile-looking metal railings, Craze is in the background working out how to cook up chicken teriyaki in an outside gale.

It's fair to say that a lot has happened to Craze since he rocked up at the catering department of the Hammersmith and West London College, in 2002.

His girlfriend Nicci filled in an application for the unemployed carpet fitter, who left school at 15, and he admits that when he started the only knife he was comfortable with was a stanley knife.

Somehow he and his family survived on meagre expenses during his apprenticeship years at Fifteen, and he worked his way up the ladder to become a valued part of the Oliver empire.

"I was lucky in the first week," says Aaron looking back on his first few months of the programme.

"They asked us to make bread, and that was the one thing my dad used to make at home. And it's the kind of thing you don't forget. I remember Jamie being impressed with mine."

But he also admits that there were times when he didn't think he'd make it to the end.

"It's still the hardest thing I've ever done. I had no money, and the hours were killing me, and I'd be trying to fit in carpet jobs around the place, to make ends meet. But Nicci was like, 'There is NO way you are quitting!' So that was that."

And thankfully his hard work paid off. After two years, Aaron graduated with merit and has since worked at The Ivy and also in the kitchen at Fifteen working his way up from trainee to Chef de Partie.

He then went on to win the Channel 4 series Jamie's Chef in 2007, after which he was given his own place - The Cock Inn, Braintree - and tasked with transforming it from a country pub into a vibrant Italian-inspired pub and restaurant.

Now he's back in London, and working on his new show. Something the young chef says he never thought would happen.

"It's hard to take it in. Last night me, my partner and our two daughters were sitting watching the Naked Chef at home, and having a lovely time.

"And the idea that people could do that with me - that's... well it basically seems unbelievable."

Double ginger gingerbread men

Even the smallest hands can help make these friendly little fellows

Makes 12 big gingerbread men
Preparation and cooking times

Preparation time

Prep 45 mins

Cook time

Cook 15 mins

Method

1. Heat oven to 200C/180C fan/gas 6. Line 2 baking sheets with baking parchment. Melt butter, sugar and syrup in a pan. Mix flour, soda, spices and a pinch of salt in a bowl. Stir in the butter mix and chopped ginger to make a stiff-ish dough.
2. Wait until cool enough to handle, then roll out dough to about 5mm thick. Stamp out gingerbread men, re-rolling and pressing the trimmings back together and rolling again. Lift onto baking sheets. Bake for 12 mins until golden. Cool 10 mins on the sheets, then lift onto cooling racks.
3. To decorate, mix icing sugar with a few drops of water until thick and smooth. Halve then slice cherries thinly to make smiles, and cut ginger into small squares. Spoon icing into a food bag, snip off the tiniest bit from one corner, then squeeze eyes and buttons, and a tiny smile onto 1 man at a time. Stick on a cherry smile and ginger buttons. Repeat; leave to set. Will keep up to 1 week in an airtight tin.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE

1. Orders for Advertisements are accepted subject to the provisions of the British Code of Advertising Practice and any statutes in force at the time of publication.
2. The Publisher shall not be liable for any loss or damage occasioned by any total or partial failure, delay or defect in delivery or distribution of any newspaper or edition in which any advertisement is scheduled to appear.
3. In the event of an error, misprint or omission in the printing of the advertisement the Publisher will either re-insert the advertisement or relevant part of the advertisement as the case may be or make such other correction or adjustment as the Publisher may consider appropriate. No claim for adjustment will be made where an error, misprint or omission does not materially detract from the advertisement. In no circumstances shall the total liability of the Publisher for any error, misprint or omission exceed the amount of a full refund of any price paid to the publisher for the particular advertisement in connection with which liability arose or the cost of a further corrective advertisement of a type and standard reasonably compatible to that which was originally accepted.
4. The right is reserved to refuse to accept or to continue the insertion of any advertisement, even though accepted and paid for, at the discretion of the Advertisement Manager.
5. The Publisher reserves the right in exceptional circumstances and at the Publisher's discretion to release names and addresses of advertisers to appropriate authorities, including but not limited to Police, Trading Standards and Tax officials.
6. No responsibility is accepted for damage to or loss of artwork, photographs or other original material.
7. The Publisher will endeavour to set copy as ordered but the right is reserved to alter advertisements to conform with the Publisher's standards.
8. Whilst every attempt will be made to forward replies to box numbers no liability can be accepted in respect of any loss or damage alleged to arise through delay in forwarding such replies, however caused. Readers are advised not to enclose original documents or anything of value with replies to box number advertisements.

9. The classification under which advertisements appear is entirely at the discretion of the Publisher.

10. It is the responsibility of the advertiser to ensure that the first insertion of a series of advertisements is correct. The Publisher does not accept responsibility for any advertisement which is classified incorrectly after the initial insertion unless corrected by the advertiser.

11. Testimonials will be provided, on request, as proof of insertion. Full voucher copies will not normally be sent.

12. Minimum advertisement size is 3cm x 1 column.

13. All advertising copy to be received by 12 noon on Fridays with the exception of Jobs which can be accepted up to 11am on Mondays.

14. Copy instructions must be given in writing and cannot be cancelled after the above deadlines. Corrections must be confirmed in writing.

15. In the event that copy instructions are not received by the published deadline the Publisher reserves the right to repeat copy last used and charge for the space booked.

16. Payment of monthly accounts is due 30 days from the date of invoice. The Publisher reserves the right to charge interest at 3% per month per annum compound above bank base rate from the due date of payment.

17. The placing of an order for the insertion of an advertisement shall amount to acceptance of the above conditions. Any conditions stipulated by an agency or an advertiser shall be void in so far as they are in conflict with them.

18. Whilst every attempt will be made to forward replies to box numbers no liability can be

THIS is no ordinary road test, but then this is no ordinary car.

The Mazda MX-5 is already an icon of the sports car market by virtue of its clean-cut looks, sharp handling and the major fun factor. This third generation car is also the easiest to live with: whether you plump for the classic fabric folding roof or the Roadster-Coupe version, it has the kind of turn-key reliability that makes everyday use a breeze.

So it can do the daily driver thing as well as deliver big B-road thrills, which is versatile enough for a two-seat roadster. But that wasn't enough for the team at Mazda UK, who decided that the combination of a balanced chassis, sharp responses and bulletproof mechanicals made for an ideal racing car.

So that's exactly what happened. A pair of standard MX-5 2.0i Sport Tech models were taken straight from the production line and turned into racers. Not that it resulted in major modifications: the 2.0-litre petrol engine, gearbox and rear axle were all standard, with just the addition of safety equipment like a roll cage and fire extinguisher. Uprated suspension and brakes were also required to cope with the demands of the track, and slick tyres meant the qualities of chassis could be fully exploited.

The Britcar series pits a wide variety of machinery against the challenges of endurance racing, culminating in a 24-hour marathon around the Silverstone circuit.

And so it was that the plucky MX-5 with a modest 158bhp found itself sharing a grid with Aston Martins, Porsches and heavily modified BMWs. As you might expect, in a straight line the MX-5 could only keep pace with similarly-powered cars, even though the four-cylinder unit was happy to rev all day long and was sufficiently torquey to have the rear wheels working hard coming out of corners.

The fact that the MX-5 was light on its toes, light on fuel and forgiving to drive meant each team member could go longer between pit stops and leapfrog up the running order.

The theory goes that a good road car should make a good racing car, but not necessarily the other way round. Yet the MX-5's fluidity and exploitable handling make it a perfect companion for road or track. All you need to do then is find somewhere to play.

Tim triumphs in classic scramble

By BEN MIDDLETON

A HONITON motorbike enthusiast has triumphed in an international classic scramble competition.

Tim Dallaway, of Dallaway's Garage, East Devon Business Park, Wilmington, recently took part in the Norman Enduro at Beauval-en-Caux in France.

The competition is open to riders from across 14 different nations with more than 40 riders taking part in each race.

Tim won four of the six races that he entered and was also victorious in the grand slam race where the top eight riders battle it out.

Speaking to Pulman's View, he said: "The weather we had whilst we were over in France was perfect for racing.

"The French are very passionate about their motorbikes. It's like the English are passionate about football and the French are passionate about motorbikes and classic scrambling."

Dad John added: "It was such a different atmosphere and it was an excellent competition and very relaxed. I definitely think we will do more (races) abroad."

"Scrambling has been in our family for ages. My dad did it, I did it, and now Tim does it. It is a real family affair."

"Tim has been doing classic scrambles for the last three years or so and we go all over the country as well as Scotland and Wales."

The father and son team have worked on the bike that is used for racing and say it is one of the best that they have owned.

John said: "The bike is based on a 1965 BSA. We have done a lot of work on the frame."

"There is no prize money involved in classic scrambling and you just do it for the glory. But the races are very friendly. In France they are very passionate about classic scrambling and there was thousands of people walking around and having a look at the bikes."

"At the start of the competition nobody really knew who Tim was then, by the end, people were buying him drinks and asking for his autograph."

"The competition has been running for 60 years but this was the last one and Tim was presented with his trophy by the mayor of the town."

Tim also finished second overall in the British Classic Scramble Championship despite only entering a handful of races.

He is now hoping to enter the European Classic Scramble Championship.

Pupils take champions netball title

STUDENTS from Colyton Grammar School recently became East Devon Netball champions for three different age groups.

The tournaments were held at The King's School in Ottery St Mary and schools from all over the area were competing for a place to represent east Devon.

The Colyton teams played extremely well throughout the tournaments.

The U14 team won all of their pool games and they went on to beat Exmouth Community College in the semi-final and then Uffculme in the final.

The U16 team also won all of their pool games before beating Honiton Community College in the semi-final and then Uffculme in the final.

The U19s played in a round-robin tournament and the Colyton team won all of their matches convincingly.

The U14 and U16 finals will take place on Saturday, November 6th in Plymouth and the U19 final will take place on Tuesday, November 9th at Exeter University.

HONITON GOLF CLUB

Ha Ha Knockout Qualifier

THE Winter season is upon us and although the weather was crisp and clear those frosted mornings with temporary greens beckoned.

We were playing the Ha Ha winter league qualifier, a Foursomes Stableford to see who the last 16 teams would be to progress to the knock out stages.

Many good pairing has come unstuck at this stage and this year was no different.

Choosing whose drive was better placed to attack the green can be very testing even off similar drives in the middle of fairways as Andy Harrison and Chris Earle learned to their cost.

Andy felt compelled to take Chris's drive up the 18th and then treated his partner to the sight of his clubbed second shot trickling straight into the fairway bunker six feet in front of him, a shot that even brought the four ball behind them on the 18th tee to their knees in fits of laughter.

But a weekend's golf up at Honiton is played in that manner of enjoyment.

The three leading qualifiers and leading seeds in the draw for the next round were J Drew and D Noar 39 points, M Fowler and R Reece 38 points and H Cook and J Gillingham 36 points. Good luck to all in the next round.

Mixed Section

Treble Six was the format this week but slightly changed. Holes one to six Greensomes, seven to 12 Foursomes and 13 to 18 Better Ball.

This proved very popular especially with Christine Bradshaw and Terry Dimond who won with a score of 44 points.

Second place Penny Blackburn and Max Pipe with 37 points. Third place Barbara Eastwood and Peter Shepherd with 36 points.

Ladies Section

On Sunday a small field played a EWGA Medal. The winner was Elizabeth Davies.

Wednesday was also a EWGA Medal with a large field taking part. Silver Division winner was Jane Watts Nett 76.

Bronze One winner Val Daniels Nett 77 and Bronze Two winner Sharon Dacre Nett 76.

Senior Section

The seniors were given a taste of the professional life this week with a competition played off scratch handicap.

Although it was a Stableford format many players found scoring difficult but it certainly concentrated the mind in managing the way around the course.

To sweeten the pill Stableford points were added at the end equivalent to their handicap.

The outstanding performance was from Jim Wallis in Division One who with a gross score of 72 and a 10 handicap amassed a total of 43 points to earn first place.

Mike Stroud 39 points, Stan Squire 38, Bill Spice 37 and John Fleetwood 36 were the other winners in the division.

Division Two was won by newly appointed captain Bill Nicholls with 38 points on count back from Bob Milton. Dave Morgan 37, Peter Blake 35 and John Weeden 35 were the other prize winners.

Also this week the keenly contested match was played versus the ladies for the Otter Trophy.

Played off the men's card a good deal of discussion and comment occurs regarding additional strokes given to the ladies.

It is however, a tough task for the ladies over the longer holes but a fine performance from Andrea Squire and Jane Watts saw them triumph over the seniors pair.

Overall however, the seniors proved just as strong and held on to the trophy.

A very sociable event was enjoyed by all with much talk of revenge next year.

AXE CLIFF GOLF CLUB

Seniors' Section

ON Friday, October 22nd the seniors played a new competition, a three-man Bowmaker Stableford for the Silver Salver.

In this event, one score only is recorded over the first six holes, two over the next six and all three over the final six.

The winners were Geoff Hubbard (19), David Field (19) and Clive Davie (18) with 79 points.

Five points behind in second place with 74 points were Rob Grove (16), Gilbert Cox (18) and Bob Heard (15). Two teams returned scores of 71 points and third place on the inward half ruling went to Brian Wilkes (12), Roger Wright (22) and Don Lee (26) with Geoff Hughes (16), Peter Knighting (14) and Norman Stone (18) with 79 points.

In second place a mere point behind with 38 points were Sid Pember (19) and Phil Christman (26) and in third spot another single point behind on 37 points came Chris Jowett (16) and Alan Vincent (21).

The ladies enjoyed their last

(23) the team to miss out.

The Winter League, a two ball better ball Stableford, got under way last Monday.

Ten dates are set aside during the winter months; teams are allowed to compete on eight occasions with the best six counting in the final analysis.

Last year's winners Rob Grove (16) and Bryan Dale (22) showed that they are not going to relinquish their title easily by recording a magnificent opening score for the 15 hole competition with 39 points.

In second place a mere point behind with 38 points were Sid Pember (19) and Phil Christman (26) and in third place another single point behind on 37 points came Chris Jowett (16) and Alan Vincent (21).

The ladies enjoyed their last friendly match of the season with the Sidmouth ladies, but unfortunately were not the winners.

Last Wednesday they competed in the last of the Axe Cliff Medal rounds. The winner of the Axe Cliff Cup will be the lady with the lowest net score from three rounds.

This weeks' winner with a nett 74 was Sandra Walker (16).

The main club competed this past Sunday for the October Stableford. Winner of Division One with 38 points was Brian Kelland. Second with 37 points was Charlie Griffin who had a better back nine than third place Andrew Hellier with 37 points.

Winner of Division Two was Gerry Bimmore with 37 points. Second with 36 points Ian Burraston and third with 35 points Nigel Garwood.

LOCAL rider Tim Rogers has finished his eventing season on a high note with three placings at Aldon Horse Trials, Yeovil.

He came eighth in the CIC* with Cruising Slainte Mhath (Archie) — a CIC* is a Federation Equestre Internationale (FEI) International two-day novice event run under FEI rules.

After the dressage, the pair were 12th and had just one fence down in the showjumping — which proved to be very influential with only four clears out of nearly 70 starters. The duo completed the cross-country element clear and inside the time.

In the Novice competition, Tim came close to winning on Bwana but had to finish for a second, only beaten by half a second.

On his third horse of the event, Tim was placed fifth in the BE100 with Woetske.

After the horse trials Tim told Pulman's View Sport that he was thrilled with how each of the horses had competed.

He said: "I am delighted with how the horses went and it is a great finish to the year for me."

HONITON HORNETS HOCKEY CLUB travelled to ISCA college last weekend for their third league game hoping for a win following their earlier loss and draw.

The opposition were fielding a very new and in some cases very young team. Whilst Honiton's defence had little to do, the midfield and forwards were very busy with a great many attacks on Ashmoor's goal. Seven goals were scored in total through Vanessa Trude, Becky Bond, Sophie George, Jean Herniman, Amy Phillips and Caroline Hobbs.

Sidmouth 2nds 1 Honiton Hornets 2

Despite the initial heavy rain the skies cleared and a very competitive game of hockey resulted.

Honiton decided to push forward in the first half in order to score some earlier goals and were rewarded with two. The first came from Vanessa Trude who made her way through various Sidmouth players making a great shot from the edge of the circle which beat several of Sidmouth's defence and the goalkeeper.

The second goals came from a series of well worked passes from Becky Hammatt up the right wing to Jean Herniman who battled past the Sidmouth defender to put a really well weighted pass into the edge of the circle for Sophie George who just managed to reach it and put a solid strike across the goalkeeper and into the goal leaving the score at two nil at the end of the first half.

In the second half Sidmouth managed one goal which flew past Amy Phillips shoulder but didn't manage any more.

In the last 10 minutes Honiton's best defence came in keeping the ball in Sidmouth's goal and away from Honiton's goal. Honiton played a great team game this week with some really good passages of possession and passing. Player of the match was Lucy Le Cocq who once more had a great game.

D&E LEAGUE: AXMOUTH UTD V UAU EXETER

AXMOUTH United returned to winning ways with a 6-2 defeat of UAU Exeter who put in a spirited display playing two thirds of the game with 10 men.

Axmouth started well and Mike Challis was unlucky not to open his account for the season when his effort in the first minute was cleared off the line. It signalled a bright start for the home side who enjoyed most of the early possession in a physical encounter and in the eighth minute Challis forced the first of many fine saves from the visiting keeper who had an excellent game.

Axmouth continued to make a number of half chances yet their keeper Andrew Smart produced a great save of his own in the 18th minute to deny UAU what looked a certain opener.

On 22 minutes the deadlock was broken when Reece Hales sent in a great ball which took a couple of deflections before getting the last touch off a defender to go down as an own goal.

Six minutes later a fine effort was handled on the line by a visiting defender and Axmouth were awarded a penalty and further assisted by a red card for the offender. The normally reliable Jamie Hughes stepped up but saw his effort stopped by another fine save.

The miss seemed to put the home side off stride for a few minutes and the visitors upped their efforts despite being a man down and made the most of some good fortune when a long ball forward looked to be easily cleared but Charlie Sweetland lost his footing leaving the attacker clear to slot home a neat finish in the 36th minute.

The remaining few minutes of the half were fought evenly and the sides went in level at the break.

Second half saw Axmouth start quickly again and look to use the one man advantage by passing the ball and using the space and duly got the second after good work from Sandman, Hales and Dack combined to set up Charlie Clarke to finish neatly five minutes into the second half and four minutes later Asa Sandman got on the end of a Hales cross to make it 3-1.

A fine 15 minute spell was completed when Clarke tapped home his second following a fine long range effort from Jake Dack which the unlucky keeper got a hand to but only managed to tip it on to the bar and see it fall to Clarke.

Give credit to the UAU lads who never gave up and on 65 minutes got a second themselves when a speculative long range effort looped high and dropped just under the bar to beat Smart who was certainly not helped by the very bright sunlight.

A determined away side then pressed hard with a hope of snatching a point but were undone by two more strikes firstly from Sandman following more good work from Dack and as the play became so spread the home side capitalised on the tiring UAU lads as Daniel Reynolds finished off after clever play from Sandman in the 86th minute to make it 6-2 at the end.

A fine all round team performance and the scoreline could have been worse but for a fine display from the away keeper who along with the rest of his team deserve some credit for their efforts.

Axmouth continue to progress and play decent football and the team are building on a fine start with a real team spirit of togetherness, again plenty of notable performances but Asa Sandman earned man of the match honours for a fine all round

PERRY STREET LEAGUE ROUND-UP

BAILEY IS LEFT EXHAUSTED BY 5-4 'THRILLER'

By KEVIN FAHEY

FARWAY manager Andy Bailey was left feeling it after a nine-goal thriller on Saturday.

Farway travelled to Merriott missing a couple of key players through injuries and holidays but welcomed back goalkeeper Philip Woodley.

Last week's stand-in keeper, Dave Summers, kept a clean sheet so Woodley had a lot to live up to.

The game got off to an even start with both teams sharing possession.

After 15 minutes, Farway had the most of some good fortune when a long ball forward looked to be easily cleared but Charlie Sweetland lost his footing leaving the attacker clear to slot home a neat finish in the 36th minute.

The remaining few minutes of the half were fought evenly and the sides went in level at the break.

Second half saw Axmouth start quickly again and look to use the one man advantage by passing the ball and using the space and duly got the second after good work from Sandman, Hales and Dack combined to set up Charlie Clarke to finish neatly five minutes into the second half and four minutes later Asa Sandman got on the end of a Hales cross to make it 3-1.

who must have got his feet caught in the mud.

Two minutes later Merriott found themselves 4-1 up with their striker breaking free and scoring from a seemingly off-side position.

With 40 minutes left, Farway had time on their side and looked to reduce the deficit with shots from King, James Salter and Scott Burrough, all testing the keeper.

Then a glimmer of hope when Burrough was fouled in the box with Matt Williams converting the resulting penalty.

Farway looked much more confident and carried on pushing, and again were awarded with a King corner causing problems and Philip Derryman rising at the back post to head home from six yards to make it 4-3.

The next goal would be crucial, and it was Merriott who found the back of the net with their midfielder having too much time to shoot from 20 yards and score in off the post.

Farway still didn't let their heads drop and with 10 minutes left, Salter broke free and smashed the ball past an advancing keeper, making it 5-4 in the 80th minute with a terrific individual goal, setting up a rousing finale.

Farway finished the game strongly with a dipping volley from Burrough and a shot cleared off the line from Salter but could not find the equaliser.

Merriott's goals came from Pete

Symes, Craig Full, Craig Lodge and two from Scott Jennings as they consolidated their good start in the Premier Division.

Farway were disappointed after scoring four goals but getting no reward, but must cut out individual mistakes against the better teams in the league.

Farway manager Andy Bailey admitted he was left exhausted by a nine-goal thriller in which his team staged the superb comeback that deserved more than just an honourable 5-4 defeat against Merriott.

"It was such an exhausting second half that I thought we were trailing 6-5!" said Bailey.

"It was a really exciting comeback but we just couldn't pile on enough pressure at the end to get that equaliser."

"It was a very exciting game," agreed Merriott manager Martin Case.

Beaminster kept up the pressure at the top of the Premier with a solid 2-0 win over Barrington with newcomer Sam Beaton scoring both goals, the second an excellent lob over the goalkeeper.

In Division One leaders Winsham made it five wins out of five with an emphatic 4-1 victory at Charmouth.

"It wasn't our best performance of the season but we played some nice football for 50 of the 90 minutes," said manager Phil Loaring.

"It has been a very good start to the season for us but it is still early days. Having finished joint second last season and missed out on promotion on goal difference we want to go up this time."

Goals from Tom Studd, Sam Symes (two) and Stuart Richards, with a superb free kick, earned Winsham the points.

Also in Division One Ali Rattenbury missed a last minute penalty to deny Lyme Regis Reserves a share of the spoils as they lost 3-2 at Ilminster Colts.

"It was a Chris Waddle moment and Ali was not happy with himself," said manager Gerard Hitchcock. Andrew Hitchcock and Dan Thirwell were Lyme's goal scorers.

In Division Two Crewkerne Rangers fought back from a two-goals deficit against second-placed Uplyme to clinch a memorable 4-2 victory.

After a goalless first half — which included a superb penalty save from Rangers goalkeeper Mark Holton to deny Uplyme joint-manager Roger Smart — Alex Cottle struck twice to put Uplyme on course for victory.

But Rangers showed tremendous character to hit back with goals from Adam Tanner, man-of-the-match Tom Fussell, Josh Lovatt (penalty) and Toby Symes to clinch all of the points.

"I am very pleased with that result," pured Rangers boss Scott Isaacs.

SOUTH WEST PENINSULA — AXMINSTER TOWN FOOTBALL CLUB

Axminster Town 1
Alphington 4

AXMINSTER'S miserable start to the season continued as they slumped to their eighth defeat to leave them rooted to the foot of the league.

"We made some basic mistakes and gave away two soft goals in the opening ten minutes," groaned manager James Bennett, who had just returned from his honeymoon.

"We got back into the game and had a few chances but then just before half time we went to sleep again and suddenly it was three-nil."

Bennett made a tactical change at half time converting to a 3-5-2 formation and the switch immediately paid dividends as Leo Maguire reduced the deficit in the 50th minute.

"We were then on top for the next 20 minutes but couldn't get that second goal that would have put us right back into the game," added Bennett. "Instead they hit us on the counter-attack but we never gave in and that was encouraging."

SOUTH WEST PENINSULAR — OTTERY ST MARY FOOTBALL CLUB

Ottery St Mary 3
Crediton 1

SIMON Parnell delivered a man-of-the-match performance as he scored his first hat-trick for the club to lift the pressure on the team after a stuttering start to the season.

"It wasn't a bad performance and I'll definitely take that after the last couple of weeks," said manager Dane Bunney.

Parnell's first was a scuffed shot which spun over the goalkeeper and he doubled that to put Ottery in charge at half-time. The goal that crowned his hat-trick was Parnell's best as he collected Daryl Johnston's pass and coolly slotted it home for his fourth goal in four games.

"It was also very pleasing that we defended well and despite the single Crediton goal we restricted them to a couple of harmless long range shots," added Bunney. "Hopefully we can build on that and start climbing the table."

OFFWELL RANGERS

HAVING beaten Lympstone last week Offwell knew the return game would be a difficult one, and so it proved as they returned home defeated 3-2.

They took too long to get their game going and by the time they did they were a goal down.

Offwell went 2-1 up early in the second half only to concede a stupid goal straight from the kick off.

This seemed to knock them for six and Lympstone took charge of proceedings and scored what proved to be the winner with fifteen minutes left. Offwell pushed until the last minute but to no avail and the result stood.

A very disappointed manager said: "We got exactly what we deserved today, too many players looked frightened by the aggressive tactics Lympstone showed, but they have to live up to it."

There is no game next week but by the week after the manager will have

D&E LEAGUE: COLYTON V EXETER CIVIL SERVICE RESERVES

Coly throws away three easy points despite a spirited fight by the team

Division Two
Exeter Civil Service Reserves 4
Colyton 3

EXETER Civil Service climbed out of the bottom three despite a spirited fight back from Colyton.

The match kicked off in torrential rain and it only took two minutes for Civil to open the scoring, a complete misunderstanding within the Coly ranks allowed Civil to score an easy goal.

Things did not get much better and for large parts of the game Colyton were very disjointed.

DEVON & EXETER LEAGUE ROUND-UP

EXMOUTH Amateurs are still seeking their first victory after going down 3-1 to a lively Beer Albion.

Luke Bartlett, James Melville and Matt Hancock scored for the

A lack of positional sense, far too many wrong options were chosen, far too many underhit/overhit and generally misplaced passes meant that it was always going to be an uphill struggle.

Civil's forward line were a constant threat and by far the best we have come up against this season, but the Civil defence was by far the worst.

At times Coly played some extremely nice football, crisp sharp interplay creating several openings — but the finishing was woefully short of the standard expected and this resulted in a very frustrating afternoon.

reply was a penalty from manager Dion Newcombe.

East Budleigh made it six wins from six as they powered to a 3-0 win at Feniton.

The Division One leaders had to dig deep against a gritty home side but Coly keeper Kris Reid making a breathtaking save.

After Civil's fourth goal the revival started as straight from the restart Gary May on 80 minutes hit the dead ball from the centre spot up and over the keepers head and into the top corner. Five minutes later sub Vince Foxwell added a third after great approach play from Wayne Waddon. With time running out Coly threw the kitchen sink at Civil but could not find a way to break through.

A disappointing afternoon saw Coly throw away three easily attainable points.

who also had the third goal they never looked in trouble. Matt Chown had the other Budleigh goal.

Chagford have begun to get up a bit of steam as they collected their second success 7-2 at home to Honiton Town.

de Cruz, Oscar Emmanuel, Jonathan Scarry and an own goal did the job for the home side. Joe Webber had both Honiton goals.

Exeter Civil Service were the other winners in a cracking 4-3 victory over Colyton after being 4-1 ahead. Adam

AXMINSTER HOSPITAL CUP
Axminster Town 5
Millwey Rise 1

JOEL Seaward and Tom Vincent both scored twice as Axminster Town swept aside the challenge of neighbours Millwey Rise.

For a team that can't buy a victory in the South West Peninsula League – they have yet to win in ten games this season – the cup proved to be a welcome relief for manager James Bennett.

"It was nice to beat our local rivals and I was happy with that," said Bennett. "Now we need to re-produce that attitude and level of performance week in, week out in the league."

A decent crowd of around 150 had turned up at Sector Lane, possibly expecting a cup upset with Axminster stranded at the foot of their league while Millwey Rise have made a bright start to life in Division One of the Perry Street League.

The opening skirmishes were certainly very competitive as the visitors started at a high tempo but it was Axminster who made the vital breakthrough when midfielder Seaward scored the first of his goals with a cracking strike.

Tom Vincent was then brought down by Millwey goalkeeper Steve O'Brien for a penalty which the Town striker duly converted and when the same player netted just before half-time the contest was effectively over.

Ben Turner headed in the fourth from Ben Vine's corner and while the talented Sam Dibling, who started the season at Sector Lane before switching clubs, hit back for the visitors Seaward restored the four goal advantage with his second in the final ten minutes.

"It was a well contested game but I think we were left dumbfounded by the pace of the ball," admitted Millwey boss Shane Featherstone.

"Our lads gave their best but you could see the gap between the teams. At the end of the day the better side won and I hope the win kick starts Axminster's season."
